

Digging Deeper

1. Resist evil and trust God to use your effort, no matter how small it seems.

Moses' mother could not change Pharaoh's law to kill her baby boy. But she hid her baby and later placed him in a tiny papyrus basket on the river. God used her courageous acts to place her son in Pharaoh's house (Ex 2:3-4).

2. Be alert for unexpected opportunities which God gives and take advantage of them.

Miriam, the baby's sister saw that Pharaoh's daughter had discovered her baby brother. Quickly she took the initiative to suggest her mother as a nurse to care for the baby.

3. God coordinates events in order to protect and to guide his servants.

Divine providence was evident when God coordinated circumstances to protect Moses' life and to place him in the king's palace. There he received an education that would prepare him to be a leader who could lead the Israelites to the Promised Land (Ex 2:1-10).

4. Sin finds the sinner.

A person cannot hide his sins. Moses thought no one saw him kill and bury the Egyptian. But, others knew of his actions and he had to flee the country (Ex 2:12-14). Even if a person is not caught in this life, he will still face God in judgment.

5. A person, depending upon his own abilities and using human methods, cannot do God's work.

Moses tried to help God free the Hebrews from slavery by killing the Egyptians one by one. He was depending upon his force and skills (Ex 2:11-20). See Zechariah 4:6.

6. God's time schedule may be different from the desires of people.

God had promised to bring the Hebrew slaves out of Egypt (Gen 15:16; 46:3). The Israelites cried out in their slavery. God heard and was concerned; however, he waited to rescue them on his time schedule (Ex 2:23-25).

Family Activity: Interaction with Characters in Story

Interact with characters in the story with a question. What would you like to say:

- To Pharaoh who has ordered all Hebrew baby boys to be thrown into the river?
- To the mother who desperately puts her baby boy in a basket and places the basket into the river?
- To the baby's sister who anxiously stays on the river bank and watches to see what will happen?
- To Pharaoh's daughter who sees the basket hidden in the reeds on the river?

THE JOURNEY OF MOSES: A PRINCE IN EGYPT

At some point following Joseph's death, official policy toward Jacob's family turned unfriendly. Although the Bible does not detail exactly what developed, the book of Exodus opens with the Israelites living as slaves. Over four centuries, even under conditions of harsh bondage, the Israelites have grown in number to the point that Egypt fears a slave uprising.

To slow this growth the pharaoh ordered the murder of all newborn Hebrew boys. (As a rule, the book of Exodus refers to the Israelites as "Hebrews," the same name as their language.

To protect baby Moses, his sister Miriam hid him in a small basket that she floated among reeds in the Nile River. It was there, at the water's edge, that he was discovered by, of all people, the pharaoh's daughter. The princess persuaded her father to let her raise the child in the palace, so that Moses was part of the royal circle the first 40 years of his life. Yet he learned early about his origins, so that despite his privileged position, he maintained a heart for his people. One day he became angry at a taskmaster who was mistreating some Hebrew slaves. Moses reacted by killing the man.

When his role in the slaying was discovered, Moses fled from Egypt and took refuge in the wilderness of the Sinai Peninsula. There he married and spent another 40 years living as a nomadic shepherd.
